

Kelsee Devoreaux

It's 11pm. Her stunt is called. She piles into the back seat and they take off. The car roars away and hits top speed in no time, driven by a masked killer, it speeds and swerves down the dimly lit street, crashing and bashing as the car darts along.

Two hours and many takes later, she comes off the set, looking worn but also a bit board. More accustomed to the heady adrenaline of knife fights and high falls, she feels...underutilized. Smoothing her wig and preparing for her next series of takes, she looks to us and deadpans, "I would rather have been on the hood."

Meet Kelsee Devoreaux, one of Hollywood's hottest and most resilient Stuntwomen. Since the late 80's, Kelsee has been following her dream...and making it happen every day.
