

Rayfield Wright

Rayfield is the underprivileged underdog who turned into a “Big Cat”. On August 23, 1945, he entered this world penniless and poor in material things yet abundantly wealthy in hope and principle. Raised fatherless, Rayfield’s first coach was Big Mama, his faithful grandmother. Although the odds of achieving success were stacked taller than his 6’7” frame, Rayfield tackled some amazingly tough hardships and, in 1967, eventually captured a position with the Dallas Cowboys. During his 13-year career, he covered Roger Staubach’s back and cleared the way for the running and receiving talents of Calvin Hill, Duane Thomas, Tony Dorsett, Robert Newhouse, Drew Pearson and other Cowboy legends. To date, Rayfield Wright is one of only 13 players in NFL history to have played in five Super Bowls.

In August of 2006, Rayfield was forever enshrined into the Pro Football Hall of Fame in Canton, OH. Rayfield has also been inducted into the Texas Sports Hall of Fame and was selected to the highly regarded Dallas Cowboys “Ring of Honor” at Texas Stadium. He is also an inductee in the State of Georgia Hall of Fame, Fort Valley Georgia Hall of Fame, Griffin Georgia Hall of Fame, and the Texas Black Sports Hall of Fame.

Since retiring from professional football in 1980, he experiences personal rewards working with children and at-risk students. Rayfield is one of the original founders of Kids 4 Tomorrow™, a non-profit organization of professional athletes who work with children from K through 12th grade. Other community contributions include: The Boys & Girls Club, Big Brothers & Sisters, Say No to Drugs, the Boy Scouts of America, Special Olympics, A Place for Grace, Make-A-Wish Foundation and The Nelson Center.

As a dynamic, inspirational speaker, Rayfield delivers powerful and mentoring messages to today’s high school students and college athletes. He is also a motivational speaker to national and local businesses, charities and non-profit organizations.

Rayfield is currently the President of PetroSun, LLC, a minority-owned, all-inclusive oil production corporation and the major sponsor of the nationally recognized Independence Bowl. He is also CEO of Wright’s Sports and Nutrition, President of The Rayfield Wright Foundation, and the co-author of his autobiography titled Wright Up Front.

Sports Celebrity Marketing S.C.M. Inc.
13332 Tenth Line,
Georgetown, ON L7G4S8 Canada
Phone: 647-221-8405

www.sportscelebs.com