

Stu Grimson

Stu was a huge 6'5" left winger who was drafted by the Detroit Red Wings in the 1983 NHL entry draft. He did not sign with the Red Wings and instead played a couple of years at the University of Manitoba of the CIAU. Two years later, the tough guy was drafted by the Calgary Flames in the 7th round, 143rd overall. After playing a couple of seasons in the minors, he got his first taste of the big leagues in 1988 with the Flames. In 1990 he was claimed on waivers by the Chicago Blackhawks. He spent a couple of years with a tough Hawks team that included Mike Peluso, Dave Manson and Chris Chelios. Stu's dominating fighting style got him the nickname "Grim Reaper".

In the 1993 NHL expansion draft, the Blackhawks didn't protect Stu and he was picked up by the Anaheim Mighty Ducks. Stu continued to play his enforcer role even as he was on the move again, this time traded by the Mighty Ducks to the Detroit Red Wings. As had been the case in the past, after a couple of years with the Red Wings, Grimson was back on the move. This time he was claimed off waivers by the Hartford Whalers and transferred to the Carolina Hurricanes when the team moved to Raleigh, North Carolina. In the summer of 1998 he was traded back to the west coast along with Kevin Haller to Anaheim Mighty Ducks.

After a stop in Los Angeles with the Kings in 2000-01, Stu ended his pro-hockey career with the Nashville Predators in 2002. His career saw him play 729 regular season NHL games and rack up an impressive 2113 penalty minutes.

Stu is now an attorney. He has worked at the National Hockey League Players' Association (NHLPA) as in-house counsel in the NHLPA's Labor Department. Stu's educational background includes an undergraduate degree in Economics earned through the University Of Manitoba as well as a juris doctor degree from the University Of Memphis School Of Law. He was admitted to the Tennessee Bar in 2006. Stu is currently a member of the board of directors with the NHL Alumni and Hockey Ministries International.

Sports Celebrity Marketing S.C.M. Inc.
13332 Tenth Line,
Georgetown, ON L7G4S8 Canada
Phone: 647-221-8405

www.sportscebs.com